The show featuring Hùng’s collection will be held at Victoria House, next to Bloomsbury Square in London, at 8pm on September 15.

“I’m proud to represent Vietnamese fashion on this prestigious professional playground,” Hùng said. “I’ll express the beauty of women in my mind, a little Vietnamese feature to London Fashion. I hope audiences will like my collection and further support me.”

Hùng said he was invited to the event four months ago and has spent one month preparing his collection, which features spring-summer night party dress with 3D floral patterns.
